

BenQ MID Aries 2

Tuesday, 05 August 2008

For those that have in fact waited around and paid much attention for BenQ's MID, we rejoice you. Nearly a full year after we first saw this thing crop up, we're just now receiving news that a launch is planned really soon.

Dubbed as the MID Aries2 (after simply going by BenQ MID), this little handheld computing device will planned to "be launched in Europe this quarter." However, that's all the details we got, so until we see a finalized specifications sheet, we'll just think that nothing has changed since the last update.