Want to be a proud owner of 4TB of digital space? Well, Western Digital has launched their solution of a 4TB NAS or rather Network Area Storage system where you can upload tons of precious data and access it easily via a networking environment.

However, don't expect price to be cheap - it comes with a $999 price tag. On the other hand, if you consider price per bytes, it's really affordable and it is ideal for small companies to store data.
